Outdoor living wherever you want With a veranda you can bring the indoors outside and create a wonderful place directly adjacent to your home. With the Cobh, however, TotaLuxe presents a veranda that can be placed completely free-standing in your garden. The construction of this roof is completely independent. This means you are not dependent on placement against the wall. You can create a covered terrace at any desired location and enjoy the outdoors to the fullest.

Cobh

The Cobh veranda is fully detached, meaning that it can be placed at every location in your garden

The highest point of the Cobh is at the front. As a result, the drain and gutter are nicely concealed at the back. The Cobh can also be built with flexibility in mind. It comes standard with a closed back wall, one closed side wall (or a side wall with an ultra-clear polycarbonate window) and one side wall with a landing. Of course, other combinations and variants are also possible and the Cobh can be adapted to suit your requirements.
